

SPIEGELWORLD™

CASTING CALL

Spiegelworld's Atomic Saloon Show is seeking a male-presenting artist for the full-time role of the Preacher (Reverend Peabody). Must have strong clowning, comic acting and improv skills, and the ability to connect with a live, intimate audience.

- Contract Type: 12-month full time
- Legally authorized to work in the United States
- Based in or willing to relocate to Las Vegas or its immediate surroundings
- Must be available from mid-May 2024

Show: Atomic Saloon Show

Production Company: Spiegelworld

Director: Cal McCrystal

Location: Atomic Saloon (200-seat theater) at Grand Canal Shoppes, The Venetian Las Vegas

Submission Deadline: April 12 2024

SHOW DESCRIPTION

Spiegelworld's Atomic Saloon Show has been playing at The Grand Canal Shoppes at The Venetian Resort Las Vegas since 2019. Directed by UK comedy legend Cal McCrystal, the venue and show transport the audience to a playful, adults-only wild west saloon, inhabited by characters who represent every trope from those classic western movies and television shows.

Featuring sexy, jaw-dropping acrobatic acts on an intimate stage, the show is anchored by two 'clown' hosts – Madam Boozy Skunkton, the whip-cracking, sex-starved proprietress of the brothel, and the Preacher (Reverend Peabody) who is always dropping in to save some souls.

PREACHER CHARACTER DESCRIPTION

Preacher is a dynamic character that commands the attention of the audience just as a true-to-life Preacher would command the attention of their congregation. Preacher and Boozy are a double-act; sharing witty barbs, fun audience interactions, and ridiculously unashamed physical comedy routines. While first entering the saloon with a high-status, pious sense of fire and brimstone, the Preacher always has a twinkle in his eye. His warmth, cheekiness and corruptible innocence bring the audience along with him as he succumbs to the temptations of the flesh. His status hilariously unravels before our eyes.

All ethnicities and body types are encouraged, six packs (or especially muscular types) are not required. A "Dad Bod" only helps the comic impact. Preacher has a fitness level that allows him to do a (very basic) aerial straps routine - basically swinging back and forth across the stage, wearing nothing but a g-string. * Artist must be comfortable stripping to a g-string.

Video Links

Preacher and Boozy Skunkton Tumbleweed Scene Password: SPIEGEL

Preacher Aerial Straps Parody Password: SPIEGEL

Self-Tape Script

Tumbleweed Scene Script

This is a scene between Preacher and Boozy and is the Preacher's first appearance in the show. We'd love to see you ignite the audience as you exclaim "This is a place of sin." You're here to heal 'em and take your role seriously, at the same time you're "playing the role" and having a joyful time with Boozy. The scene finishes with you blowing her 'back bush' after all. Have fun with it!

TO SUBMIT

Please send a current resume, headshot, full-length photo and self-tape Tumbleweed Scene video to julie.richardson@spiegelworld.com

Spiegelworld welcomes performers of all races and ethnicities, gender identities, and sexualities to apply.

TIMELINE

We will be accepting submissions until April 12th, 2024.

Those selected for in-person auditions will be invited to Las Vegas from April 23rd.

Rehearsals will commence mid-May with a premiere date in early June.

ABOUT SPIEGELWORLD

Spiegelworld creates award-winning, genre-defying live entertainment experiences, from smash-hit resident productions to engaging, interactive parties featuring the world's most talented artists. More than "just shows," we invent worlds: immersive, intricately detailed and infinitely discoverable alternate realities, full of twists and bends, art and cocktails, characters and curiosities. This story-driven, escapist energy flows through everything we do, electrifying our celebrated Las Vegas endeavors—Absinthe at Caesars Palace, our circus restaurant Superfrico at The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas, and Atomic Saloon Show at The Venetian Resort—as well as The Hook at Caesars Atlantic City.